

Medtec China 2019 swells up by 21%

13 March 2019 | News

Medtec China 2019 will be held September 25-27. There will be a grand 15th anniversary celebration and opening ceremony, business matchmaking service, and many more appealing events

Following the growth in its scale by 17% in 2018, Medtec China 2019 has continued its upward momentum in terms of the area for the exhibition booths, which has increased by 25%. The overall scale of the event, meanwhile, is up by 21%. So far, the number of new exhibitors has risen to 53. Further, 10 suppliers from New York, USA will make their first appearance at Medtec China 2019 in the form of an international pavilion, while the German and Singapore pavilions have confirmed their continued presence at a greater scale than last year.

It is predicted that Medtec China 2019 will host 450+ premium brand suppliers from 23 countries around the world, to provide the Chinese medical device industry with raw materials for product development, manufacturing and registration, precision parts and components, manufacturing equipment, processing technology, contract customization, testing and certification, policies and regulations, design, and market consulting, among other services. The exhibition will be taking place at Shanghai World Expo Exhibition and Convention Center on September 25-27.

International and local exhibitors with premium exhibits to rejuvenate the industry with R&D creativity

At Medtec China 2019, a wealth of well-known domestic and overseas brands has been invited to exhibit their latest and most state-of-the-art products and solutions.

Conference to build the platform for industry education and research of medical device manufacturing

Three days of onsite conferences concerning "Regulations, quality and technology," will provide participants with opportunities to expand their professional network resources. The meetings this year will introduce new content as follows: the Regulation Summit will remain focused on Chinese Regulatory Updates and Compliance; the Quality Track will focus on Risk Management of Medical Product Life Cycle and Key Points and Strategy for Inspection; as for the technology sector, in addition to the return of the 7th IIMD China Summit (Implantable and Interventional Medical Device) and the retention of such traditional hot topics as Dressing materials, Packaging & Sterilization hub, and medical device design.

Additionally, Technology Theater and the 5th medical device market analysis report will also be present at the event.