

Directors.

Loveman was previously the executive vice president of Aetna and president of the health plan's Consumer Health and Services business. In that role, he led the company's population health management and consumer engagement strategies, including care management, digital consumer health products, analytics, and data science.

Prior to joining Aetna in 2015, Loveman served as Chairman, CEO, and President of Caesars Entertainment Corporation. During his time at Caesars, Loveman chaired the Business Roundtable's Health & Retirement Committee. He has also served on numerous boards, including the Board of Trustees at Boston Children's Hospital and on the Visiting Committee of the M.I.T. Department of Economics. Loveman was an associate professor at the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration for nine years and he holds a Ph.D. in economics from M.I.T.