Singapore: International Enterprise (IE) Singapore and the Nanjing Health Bureau have come together as part of a plan to facilitate exchanges between Singapore and Nanjing's public and private sectors to encourage collaboration in the healthcare sector.

The plan will begin with identifying and then supporting a commercially driven, demonstrative healthcare platform project. This project will span different sectors such as master-planning, smart healthcare solutions and healthcare and wellness services.

The collaboration was finalized at the II Singapore-Nanjing Special Projects Cooperation Panel (SNCP) meeting held at Nanjing, Jiangsu province.

At the meeting, IE Singapore reiterated that it has been engaging healthcare SMEs to explore the Nanjing market.
