

Bonotox launches artificial veil cream in China

26 December 2019 | News

The cream helps to maintain the best skin condition thanks to Artificial Veil technology

BONOTOX, a South Korea based cosmeceutical company which launched the world's first 'Artificial Veil Cream', has announced that it will enter the Chinese market. BONOTOX is expecting to open a new field of cosmeceutical in China.

Consumers in the emerging Chinese market have a unique perspective on branding and product appearance. In particular, there was a strong interest in high-quality products, new products, and brands. To this end, BONOTOX has set up products that meet market demands and trends.

BONOTOX is the world's first company to develop and commercialize Artificial Veil technology. Applying the 'Artificial Veil Cream' of BONOTOX will dissolve the high concentration of peptide in the skin. This promotes skin regeneration and helps delay aging. The cream helps to maintain the best skin condition thanks to Artificial Veil technology.

The company has signed distribution contracts with Japan, China, and Australia since its debut in the Korean market.