About the job

Vivacity Health, an IQVIA company, is a full-service health and medical communications agency, where we combine science, creativity and decades of experience to bring fresh thinking to our work.
Our clients love how we just ‘get them’ and we’ve earned multiple industry awards for the fabulous programs we’ve delivered on their behalf.

About the position:
We currently are looking for a Senior Account/Project Manager to join our dynamic and friendly team. The Senior Account/Project Manager role involves working with our team and clients to deliver successful projects. The variety of multichannel work will engage you and our quality focus will impress – from portals to websites, patient support to early access programs, scientific literature, cutting edge online education, events, brand promotion, video/animations and much more .

Key requirements/About you:
As a Senior Account/Project Manager, you are a smart thinking, personable and ridiculously organised team player who loves to bring projects to life. You are a talented communicator and problem solver who will bend over backwards to fulfil promises made to our clients. You value teamwork and long-term relationships. You double check everything, love timelines and budgets and take pride in your work. You have a passion for simplifying communications and improving health. You are an ambitious account/project manager ready to take that next step or a senior account/project manager who wants to work with a quality-driven, dynamic agency where your contribution will be applauded.

Other key requirements include:

- A life sciences degree and/or multichannel marketing skills is preferred
- At least 2-5 years agency experience and as a Project Manager/Account Manager working across all agency functions and serving as a primary client contact
- Healthcare/Pharmaceuticals experience is essential
- Excellent attention to detail, a proactive mindset, excellent organisational and communication skills and the ability to manage multiple projects across a broad range of channels, platforms and clients simultaneously
