

BioJapan to kick off in October

24 April 2012 | News | By BioSpectrum Bureau

BioJapan to kick off in October

Singapore: The 17th edition of BioJapan is all set to kick off from October 14, 2015 Pacifico Yokohama. Top industry players from more than 30 countries are expected to gather at the Asia's leading biotechnology partnering event.

The three day event is an integrated exhibition that embodies regenerative medicine, personalized medicine, diagnostics, functional food, bio-energy and other aspects of biotech industry.

The event is expected to gather top-level executives and key players from the industry, as well as experts responsible for R&D, business development, licensing, and alliances all under one roof to share cutting-edge solutions, technology, and important information.

Top players like Takeda, Astellas Pharma, Daiichi Sankyo, Mitsubishi Tanabe Pharma, Sanofi, Bayer Yakuhin, AstraZeneca, Merck Serono as well as many SMEs, bio-ventures, research institutions and academic organizations are expected to attend the event.