May 25, 2022 | News

IntelliCentrics tech platform is uniquely positioned to transform how care is delivered, received and paid for through the company's network of stakeholders across 10,000 locations

Hong Kong-based IntelliCentrics has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Taiwan Life Insurance Company, to ensure Taiwanese citizens have remote access to trusted, high-quality healthcare when in Taiwan or traveling overseas.

Under this MoU, the details of which will be further stipulated in subsequent service agreements, subscribers to this programme will have access to physician consultations remotely through IntelliCentrics' online platform in emergency and other situations where necessary.

The programme will even offer subscribers remote access to physicians when they are traveling abroad. IntelliCentrics expects to work with local partners in Taiwan, including EU Care, in providing the services. IntelliCentrics and Taiwan Life currently expect to launch the programme after exploring more mutual benefits and obtaining required approvals from the authorities concerned.
