

France and India join forces for better healthcare in future

28 November 2022 | News

To bring together all the public and private stakeholders of both countries, as well as innovative companies already present or interested in the growing Indian market

The Indo-French Healthcare Symposium 2022: together for tomorrow's health took place on 28th November 2022, in New Delhi, India at the Leela Palace.

This healthcare event was organised by Business France, in collaboration with the Indo-French Chamber of Commerce and Industry, the French Institute in India, French and Indian institutional partners and companies.

The bilateral partnership in the healthcare sector has been spectacular during the pandemic with the exchange of medical support equipment. France aims to strengthening this cooperation furthermore. This symposium aimed to strengthen the bilateral healthcare ecosystem, jointly innovate for the hospital of the future and better healthcare post-Covid.

The objective is to develop new synergies in research, training, and trade in the medical and pharmaceutical fields between both countries or third ones. Moreover, it is a platform to discuss the common challenges and opportunities in the healthcare sector.

H.E Emmanuel Lenain, Ambassador of France to India, said, "Through this symposium, I encourage both countries to extend this cooperation and jointly innovate for the hospital of the future and find effective and affordable solutions to healthcare challenges. France is a strong partner for the development of healthcare in India. We also invite Indian stakeholders to invest in France, as well as top-level talents, researchers, and medical students to come to France. There is strong potential for development in sub-sectors like paediatrics, geriatrics, diagnostics, medical tourism, innovative and portable medical devices, education, and training the new generation of doctors."