

20 startups compete at MedTech Innovator's 2025 Asia Pacific Accelerator

30 May 2025 | News

Top medtech innovators from nine countries selected to join region's leading commercialisation platform

MedTech Innovator, the world's largest accelerator of medical technology companies, has announced that 20 high-potential medtech companies will participate in the sixth annual Asia Pacific (APAC) Accelerator programme.

MedTech Innovator Asia Pacific unites best-in-class startups with investors, business leaders, and allied service professionals in the medtech industry to help drive the commercialisation of life-changing technologies in the region. The 2025 cohort companies will also compete for up to $300,000 in non-dilutive cash prizes and awards.

The Asia Pacific Accelerator 2025 Cohort will attend the programme's kick-off, joining the MedTech Innovator and the BioTools Innovator 2025 Cohorts at the invitation-only Innovator Summit on June 25-26 in Mountain View, California. This event connects the leadership teams from the latest cohorts with MedTech Innovator's partners, alumni, and other industry leaders.

The 20 companies selected for the 2025 MedTech Innovator Asia Pacific Accelerator are:

- 2Strands Biosciences, Singapore
- Australis Scientific, Brisbane, Australia
- Belun Technology, Singapore
- B dot Medical, Tokyo, Japan
- Borns Medical Robotics Inc., San Jose, California, United States
- ClearCut Medical, Rehovot, Israel
- F.MED, Fukuoka, Japan
- Hemotag, Boca Raton, Florida, United States
- Heuron Co., Seoul, South Korea
- HiCura Medical, Singapore
- Iaronix, Brisbane, Australia
- MAXM Skate, Adelaide, Australia
- MEDICAL IP, Seoul, South Korea
- MedInTech Inc., Seoul, South Korea
- OsseoLabs, Bangkok, Thailand
- Prelect Devices, Perth, Australia
- Rosalind Dx, Singapore

- Sehat Kahani, Karachi, Pakistan
- SIMPLEX QUANTUM, Tokyo, Japan
- VesselSens, Bonn, Germany

MedTech Innovator Asia Pacific's 2025 program sponsors include Johnson & Johnson MedTech, B. Braun Medical, Becton Dickinson, Teleflex, Siemens Healthineers, Cambridge Consultants, and Enterprise Singapore. The programme will culminate with its first-ever self-hosted Showcase and Grand Finals in Singapore at the end of October.