The new partnership supports the progress of scientific research in the health sector.

The Ministry of Health and Prevention (MOHAP) recently signed a strategic new Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) and cooperation with the European Resuscitation Council at the Ministry's Training and Development Center in Sharjah.

The agreement is aimed towards developing opportunities for further cooperation between the two parties and benefit from their expertise to promote the health and wellness of the UAE community through support and provision of health education based on the highest international standards.

The MoU was signed by Saqr Al Hemeiri, Director, Training and Development Centre, representing the ministry and Dr. Jerry Nolan, Chairman, European Resuscitation Council.

The MoU is intended towards providing education, training and sources of health education that are in line with the Ministry's strategy to improve the quality of health services provided in the UAE and to promote community health by supporting education, training and health resources based on the highest international standards.

The new partnership supports the progress of scientific research in the health sector to ensure the continuous training and education of the Ministry's staff in an effort to keep abreast of the best global health and administrative practices to improve the quality of health services.
